

Mass Central Rail Trail

The Golden Spike II

Conference

On June 21, the Rails-to-Trails Conservancy, Wachusett Greenways and the Wayside Rail-Trail Committee will hold The Golden Spike II Conference, focusing on the nearly dozen separate projects underway along the Mass Central corridor that stretches 104 miles across the Commonwealth — from Boston to Northampton. The alluring vision of restoring this corridor as a recreational trail from end to end was recently highlighted in a marvelous feature segment on WCVB's Chronicle Magazine.

Bentley College's newly expanded athletic field, directly adjacent to the Mass Central RR bridge over Linden Street (Rt. 60) in Waltham, will be the site of the Golden Spike II Conference. This location dramatically illustrates a scenic but neglected railroading vista and engineering wonder that will be revitalized as a multi-use rail trail.

Confirmed speakers at the time of this printing include: MassHighway Commissioner John Cogliano, MBTA officials, MDC officials, State Representative Anne Paulsen, Waltham Mayor David Gately, DEM Greenway Coordinator Jennifer Howard, and a few surprises.

With strong support for the Mass Central Rail Trail, the next governor of Massachusetts can move this project from being a grand vision to a reality. As such, we have invited each of the major gubernatorial candidates to come speak about why they support this project and the many critical environmental, transportation and economic issues it touches.

Please join us Friday, June 21st for an inspiring and informative event. Come meet fellow trail advocates and supporters, key municipal and statehouse officials from communities along the route and beyond, as well as members of the news media. An outdoor barbeque luncheon, including the bluegrass sounds of Waltham's award-winning band "Southern Rail" will follow the speaker presentations.
